Lina’s Answer: Part 3

1. Henry: Kimberly, you really should be nicer to people! If you don’t change your behavior, I’m afraid you will have very negative consequences. As you sow, so shall you reap.

2. Patty: Jim you keep saying over and over again that you will fix my car, but you haven’t done anything for 5 weeks to fix my car at all! I want my car fixed! Actions speak louder than words, you know!

3. Harry: I am so happy my son is graduating from his university today. He has worked very hard and deserves some appreciation. Today is his day in the sun.

4. Kevin: I think we should put the project together from the ground up.
- Suzy: Well, I think we should do the project from the side.

Carol: Well, I think you’re both wrong! We should do the project my way!

John : I don’t think it matters how we do the project. We all have great ideas. Why don’t we agree to try different ways to do the project? All roads lead to Rome.
5. Samantha: I am so scared about my test today. You know I did really badly on the last math test. I’m very bad at math! I wish I didn’t have to take this math test. I bet you I will fail it again!

Sandra: Oh come on, Samantha! That was last time. You studied really hard for this new test. You shouldn’t worry about the past. That was the past. This is now! Don’t dwell on the past.
