Part 3: Lina’s Answer

1. Joe: I told Tina it’s Tim’s birthday this week. Tina thought it was my birthday this week and bought me a present. My birthday doesn’t happen until October. I think she is barking up the wrong tree
2. Sandra: Jimmy, when was the last time you cleaned your oven?

Jimmy: Uh, last month I think. Why do you ask?

Sandra: Because I think it’s so dirty your kitchen may catch on fire! You should do something about this problem and soon! Otherwise, it is a disaster waiting to happen

3. Mark: When I became a fire fighter, I knew the job was going to be dangerous and I could get hurt, but I had to accept this as a fact of life. It comes with the territory
4. Peter: I have been working on this math problem for three hours! I can’t solve it! What should I do Carl?

Carl: What did you look at to solve the problem?

Peter: Well, I looked at the details here.

Carl: Oh, well no wonder you can’t solve the problem! You need to look at the whole math problem with every detail. Otherwise, you can’t see the forest for its trees

5. Brian: Why are you late to work today Tom?

Tom: Oh, my car is having engine problems. It wouldn’t start this morning. That’s why I’m late.

Brian: You should get that fixed and soon!

Tom: I don’t know. I don’t have time right now.

Brian: But if you don’t fix your car soon, you may have to pay a lot more money to fix it in the future when it breaks even more. I believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure

Tom: Maybe you’re right. I’ll try to fix my car tomorrow after work.
